an estimated 10-14K hunters per year!

THE DOVE HABITAT

The Province of Cordoba, the second-largest state in Argentina, is located in the center of the country, an hours flight from Buenos Aires.

Agriculture and livestock provide 25% of the Province's income. The agriculture is centered around sorghum, wheat, maize, corn and other cereals - the favorite diet of the dove population. The area is full of mountains and hills, surrounded by agricultural land - an ideal environment for bird reproduction. The most plentiful species is the golden-eared dove, very similar to our American mourning dove. The dove are considered by all to be a "pest"; they annually destroy up to 40% of the valuable crops - a huge economic impact.

TESTIMONIALS

"Only one word can describe this hunt: AWESOME!!!"

The bird hunting was soooo good... that I thought I had died and gone to ... Argentina!"

Joe Gaar - Lafayette, LA

"This was my 9th Argentina Dove Hunting trip, and although I never had a bad hunt there, this one exceeded my expectations by far. Your staff had clearly done their scouting work and put us in areas where the bird counts were the greatest that I have ever seen. The bird boys were awesome - truly great hunting partners! Thank you again for such an excellent dove hunt! I look forward to seeing you and hunting with 5 Star Sporting on my 10th trip to Argentina."

ABOUT ARGENTINA

The country of Argentina is amazing - truly a "diamond in the rough". The people, the culture, the "attitudes", the food and wines, and the scenic beauties are world-class. Most people who have never traveled here think that Argentina is "just a small Latino country somewhere South of Mexico". This perception is far from the truth.

In spite of its somewhat overstated economic and political problems, Argentina is a great place to visit:

- ✓ A "European" mindset, populace and aspiration: Buenos Aires is called the "Paris of South America", and exceeds it in many ways.
- ✓ Warm, friendly people - "time to chat".
- ✓ LOW crime rate.
- ✓ High esteem of "family" - similar to the U.S. in the 1950's.
- ✓ High literacy rate (U.S. 97%, Switzerland 99%, Argentina 96.2%).
- ✓ Almost a total absence of the overwhelming problems facing much of the world: terrorism, prejudice, poverty, war, earthquakes, hurricanes, etc.
- ✓ Breathtaking scenery.
